

Third Highway Fatality In 65 Hours Occurs Monday

THIRD FATALITY in 65 hours—Mrs. Geraldine Uddin died three hours after the car above, in which she, her husband, Rahan Uddin, and their four-year-old daughter were riding was struck on old Route 611 three miles north of Portland. Both father and daughter are in guarded condition in Monroe County General Hospital.

SECOND VEHICLE—This 1962 Convertible driven by Daniel Abelloff, 19, which collided with the left front of the Uddin vehicle. Abelloff was treated at Monroe County General Hospital and released.

Woman Dies Of Injuries

MRS. Geraldine Uddin, 22-year-old pregnant mother, died yesterday at 4:40 p.m. in Monroe County General Hospital, raising the total of deaths on area highways to three in a 65-hour period.

Mrs. Uddin, her husband, Rahan R. Uddin, Jr., 28, and their four-year-old daughter, Lorraine, all of 113 Park Dr., Belmar, N.J., were traveling north on old Route 611, three miles north of Portland when the accident occurred at 1:15 p.m.

State Police from Easton Barracks said the Uddin car crossed into the south-bound lane. Daniel P. Abelloff, 19, Stroudsburg, RD 4, traveling south, pulled his 1962 convertible to the left to avoid the crash. The right front of the Uddin vehicle and the right front of the Abelloff car struck.

Multiple Injuries
The accident victims were taken to Monroe County General Hospital. Mrs. Uddin underwent surgery for compound fractures of the face and jaw, cerebral contusions, internal hemorrhage and rupture of pregnant uterus and ovarian veins. Monroe County Coroner, John C. F. Foelker, said death was a result of head and internal injuries.

Uddin was treated for broken bones and multiple contusions and abrasions. The child suffered a bruised face. A spokesman for the hospital late last night said they were both in guarded condition.

Abelloff, driver of the other car, has a possible knee fracture and lacerations of the right arm and nose. He was treated and released.

Extensive Damage
State Police said damage to the Uddin vehicle, a 1961 sedan, was estimated at $2,900. Damage to the Abelloff car was estimated at $900.

Lanternman Funeral Home will announce funeral arrangements.

The first fatality to occur in the 65-hour period was David Ortoski, 14, of Saylorsburg. He was struck by a hit-and-run driver Friday at 11:10 p.m. less than one half mile from his home on Route 115.

The second death was a six-week-old baby, Robert A. Bahr, Jr. He died Sunday at 5:55 p.m. in Monroe County General Hospital as a result of injuries received earlier when the car in which he was a passenger struck a utility pole on W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

Even so, resumption of his enforced return to the United States from Israel to serve a life prison sentence could come as early as Tuesday afternoon.

As soon as he is strong enough, the 62-year-old psychiatrist will be put on a plane for the United States, where he was convicted of passing secrets to the Soviet Union. He jumped bail of $100,000 last week when the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the conviction.

Scotland Yard detectives kept Soblen under close guard at Hillingdon Hospital near the London airport. They were there to prevent him from making another attempt on his life.

A late bulletin from the hospital said Soblen's condition remains satisfactory. That brief statement acknowledged the success of the emergency treatment doctors undertook Sunday night after Soblen stabbed himself in the abdomen and slashed his wrists in an airliner approaching London.

Soblen is suffering from lymphatic leukemia—cancer of the blood—and has been given only a short time to live.

Over English Channel
Soblen is conscious. Blood transfusions have strengthened him.

Soblen's suicide attempt was made while the jet airliner transporting him to New York was dropping above the English Channel only a few minutes away from London.

He stabbed and slashed himself with a steak knife he had hidden under a blanket. Quick work by the crew of the airliner and doctors at the hospital saved his life after he had lost a considerable amount of blood.

The Israeli government had deported him for illegal entry. In a legal sense he has not entered Britain, although he is in a London hospital.

A Home Office source said he is merely under police protection to receive emergency medical treatment and must continue his flight to New York as soon as he is able.

Governors Cool To McNamara On Proposed Guard Unit Cut

Expect Resolution Against Proposal

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told governors Monday that the National Guard should be whacked down and reorganized—and promptly ran into a solid wall of opposition.

He first told all the governors, gathered for their 54th annual conference, that there should be a cut in the total reserve manpower and in the number of National Guard units.

McNamara's speech was coolly received, with no interruptions for applause and only a polite hand-clapping at the end.

Even before McNamara spoke, the Military Advisory Committee had come out strongly against any cuts, and its chairman, Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia, prepared a speech in which he said McNamara's plan contained grave deficiencies.

Heartier Reception
When Vandiver made his short reply, his speech got twice as hearty a reception as McNamara had received.

McNamara then met with the governors' military committee for more than an hour behind closed doors.

As the meeting broke up, McNamara told the committee: "I've enjoyed this a whole lot—and learned a few things. There's a deficiency in our communications channel—I knew that."

Vandiver told a hastily called news conference that the meeting was amiable, but that there would be no backing down.

In his prepared text put out in Washington, McNamara had said: "We want no paper tigers in our reserve structure."

This was deleted shortly before he made his talk.

Considering his strong private feelings, Vandiver's public comments were surprisingly mild.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, predicted the governors will pass a resolution condemning McNamara's proposal.

Resolution Expected
Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, chairman of the conference, said "That's what McNamara thinks he's going to do, but McNamara's hand isn't very large."

Powell and Rockefeller are Republicans, but they got support from several Democratic governors.

Among them was Gov. Harris Bryant of Florida, who said: "I am vigorously opposed. I want combat ready troops in Florida that I can use if there is disaster or disorder. I recognize that there must be support troops, but we need the kind of troops that should be available in an emergency."

At present the reserve program calls for 700,000 men. McNamara would reduce this to 642,000.

There are 4,336 Guard-unit locations across the country. McNamara would cut these to 4,041.

Cites Figures
McNamara claimed the Eisenhower administration had used the figures of 400,000 men for the National Guard and 300,000 for the Army Reserve without much attention to the military necessity. And he said the same holds true for a 10 per cent cut suggested in 1959.

"It is clear from the record," McNamara said, "that neither the Congress' 700,000 figure, nor the Eisenhower administration's 630,000 was the product of military planning."

"Both figures were based on pure happenstance," and at another point: "There is clearly nothing sacred, logical or imperative about the figure of 700,000."

McNamara said that in trying to add more missiles, to improve the strategic bomber force, to increase the combat-ready Army divisions, the Kennedy administration has added around $10 billion to the defense bill.

And to make this work effectively, he said, the Reserves must be well-trained and ready to move into the Army in a hurry.

"The era of leisurely mobilization is past," he said.

Liberals Win In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Conservative Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and his Liberal-Democratic party won a solid endorsement Tuesday in nearly complete returns in Japan's upper House election.

The Japanese stock market surged ahead on news of a Conservative victory of better than 2-1 in Sunday's election. Business circles said the public had endorsed Ikeda's plans to double the national income by 1971.

The 62-year-old prime minister announced in a television address he will take measures to help farmers and workers in medium and small industries and "try to eliminate the existing discrepancy of income among the people."

His Conservatives added two seats at the expense of Socialists who campaigned on a platform of opposition to Ikeda's economic policies. While the lower House of Parliament has all the power in Japan, upper House elections are indicative of how political winds are blowing.

With all but seven of the 127 races settled, the Liberal-Democrats had 68 seats, the Socialists, 33, while a religious group deposed the Moderate Democratic Socialists as the House of Councillors' third force. The Communists put up 47 candidates and won three, including their party president, Sanzo Nozaka.

McNamara said that in trying to add more missiles, to improve the strategic bomber force, to increase the combat-ready Army divisions, the Kennedy administration has added around $10 billion to the defense bill.

And to make this work effectively, he said, the Reserves must be well-trained and ready to move into the Army in a hurry.

Lone Holdout Remains On Water Tower

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Robert Payne, leader of a prison revolt, and another convict came down from a water tower Monday, leaving a lone holdout on the tower's catwalk.

Payne, 23, a parole violator, and James Reed, 24, descended from the tower at Western State Penitentiary. Reed was up for parole this month.

Charles Miller, 32, serving life term for murder, escorted Payne and Reed about two-thirds of the way down and then returned to his perch 100 feet above the ground.

Warden James Maroney said Payne, who climbed the tower last Monday afternoon, was dehydrated and in worse physical condition than any of the other rebels. Payne was taken to the prison hospital.

Reed, who ascended the tower with 11 others Tuesday evening, was in good condition.

The convicts climbed the tower to protest alleged brutality in the prison's "home block," an isolated cell block used for punitive action.

The warden said he thought Miller went back up the tower because "he is trying to prove he is the strongest man of them all and that he is a little more of a leader."

When the demonstration first began, prison officials said they would hear the convict's complaints when they came down but would take no action as long as they remained on the tower.

Soblen, In Good Condition, Will Resume Trip To U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Fugitive spy Robert E. Soblen gained strength against his will with every passing hour Monday after an unsuccessful suicide attempt, but remained too weak to travel immediately.

A Justice Department official in Washington said Soblen is not in very good shape and is not expected back in the United States soon.

Even so, resumption of his enforced return to the United States from Israel to serve a life prison sentence could come as early as Tuesday afternoon.

As soon as he is strong enough, the 62-year-old psychiatrist will be put on a plane for the United States, where he was convicted of passing secrets to the Soviet Union. He jumped bail of $100,000 last week when the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the conviction.

At Laos Conference:

Red China Accuses U.S. Of 'Worsening' Asian Situation

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Red China Monday accused the United States of worsening the entire Southeast Asia situation by sending troops to Thailand and by increasing armed intervention in South Viet Nam and the Formosa Strait.

Chinese Delegate Chang Han Fu, backed by the North Vietnamese delegate, made the charges at the opening of a new session of the 14-nation Laos conference. The meeting was called to complete a treaty to guarantee the neutrality and independence of the kingdom recently united after years of strife.

W. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, protested that the conference rules had been broken by raising an issue not involving Laos.

Khrush Promises Red China Backing

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev ignored Monday his ideological differences with Red China and pledged the Soviet Union will fight anyone who attacks that vast country.

Referring to the tension between Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa and mainland China, Khrushchev said, "Now we declare once again: He who dares to attack the Chinese People's Republic will meet a crushing rebuff from the great Chinese people, the peoples of the Soviet Union, the entire Socialist camp."

"And let no one," he added, "have any doubts on this score."

Khrushchev was giving his country an early evening television and radio report on his recent trip to Romania. He praised Romania's Communist government in the usual Communist fashion and then tackled what was obviously the real point of the speech—tension in Formosa Strait.

He accused the United States of backing Chiang Kai-shek in his alleged plans for a "tiger leap onto the mainland."

"The admirals and the generals from the Pentagon are visiting Taiwan (Formosa) more and more often now," Khrushchev asserted. "The American military circles encourage and cheer up Chiang Kai-shek by sending ships of the 7th American Fleet to the Taiwan Strait."

Rusk Says Khrush Red China Talk No Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Monday that "it shouldn't surprise anyone that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has committed Russia to backing Communist China in case of an attack on that country."

"If the Sino-Soviet security pact means anything, it would seem to mean that," Rusk said in response to reporters' questions about Khrushchev's statement on the renewed military maneuvering in the Formosa Strait.

Talking with reporters after a lengthy meeting with the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Rusk saw no insoluble problems to prevent the writing of a new chapter by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Rusk said his discussion with Western leaders in the last two weeks left him "convinced that NATO and the commitments to Laos to the conference cochairmen, Britain and the Soviet Union, are solid and strong."

He said there are some differences of approach among alliance members, but "there is no doubt that they can be worked out so that the alliance can write a new chapter in trade, the Common Market and in the control of nuclear forces."

On other matters, Rusk said that there is no special significance to the withdrawal of some U.S. Marine forces from Thailand.

Turning to North Vietnamese Delegate Hoang Nguyen, Harriman said the question was out of order "just as it would be for me to raise the question of foreign military personnel who are well-known to be present in North Viet Nam as well as certain other neighboring countries."

Red Chinese units have been reported stationed in North Viet Nam.

The North Vietnamese representative insisted the success of the conference was "seriously threatened by the present of U.S. troops in Thailand."

The United States sent Marines into Thailand and beefed up Army forces already on the scene for Southeast Asia Treaty Organization maneuvers when fighting in Laos swept toward the Thai border.

The Communist and neutralist thrust in Laos was regarded in Washington as a menace to Thailand. The Laotian rebels made no attempt to strike at Thailand. Fighting later died down and a coalition government was formed.

Pulling Marines Out
The United States announced Sunday that it was pulling 1,000 Marines out of Thailand because of general lessening of tension along the Laotian border. Another 1,200 Marines and 3,000 Army troops remain.

The Chinese delegate said the original American motive for sending the troops into Thailand was an utterly groundless pretext and said their presence "poses a threat not only to Laos but to all its neighboring countries."

Thai Ambassador Derek Jayaman said the presence of the U.S. and SEATO troops was purely defensive.

After the flareup the delegates unanimously agreed to leave the main part of the negotiations on Laos to the conference cochairmen, Britain and the Soviet Union. No date was set for a new conference session.

Doctors' Strike Hits Hard

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Emergency centers throughout Saskatchewan labored Monday night to provide medical services in the midst of a doctors' strike against this province's new compulsory medical insurance plan.

A 10-month-old baby suffering from a serious illness died Sunday, the first day of the plan's operation and the strike. Its parents tried desperately but in vain to find medical help over a wide area.

Physicians charged that lack of available physicians was a contributing factor in the death.

Elsewhere, two youths requiring general anesthetics had to be transferred 60 miles from Weyburn to Regina because of a doctor shortage.

"I don't know how long the (nonstriking) doctors can stand it when we get busy," said Dr. A. C. Pickles of Regina's General Hospital.

A growing number of clinics and hospitals throughout this province of 925,000 people were understaffed as a result of the walkout by most of Saskatchewan's 700 private doctors.

Free emergency treatment was provided at 34 of the province's 120 hospitals by about 240 volunteer doctors.

The chief spokesman for the striking physicians declared that the doctors won't return to normal practice until the province's Socialist government drops the medical program.

They claim that the plan—the first of its type on a major scale in North America—opens the door to government control of the medical profession.

"There can be no further negotiations until this unjust and monopolistic act is withdrawn," asserted he spokesman, Dr. N. D. Dalgleish of Saskatoon, president of the Saskatchewan College of Surgeons and Physicians.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd, whose government stepped up efforts to bring in physicians from outside the province, accused the striking physicians of "callous disregard of the people of Saskatchewan."

Lloyd also wired the Canadian Medical Association, asking assurances that doctors coming into the province to assist in the emergency will not be penalized when they return to their home practices.

One Hurt In Mount Bethel Crash

STATE POLICE from Easton barracks investigated a car, truck accident yesterday at 4:25 p.m. at the intersection of Route 611 and Legislative Route 166, near Mount Bethel. One person was injured.

Hurt was Mrs. Arlene McDonald, 34, of Glendora, N. J. She was a passenger and was taken to Monroe County General Hospital for treatment of lacerations of the face. A hospital spokesman reported late last night that Mrs. McDonald's condition was "satisfactory."

Other passengers in the car were her two sons, Jackie, Jr., 10, Billy, 9, and her daughter Trudy, 13. They were treated at the hospital and released.

State Police said that McDonald was traveling south on Route 611 and was struck by a truck operated by Otto Koeck, of Livingston, N. J., when he failed to stop for a stop sign.

They identified the driver of the car as John T. McDonald, husband of Arlene.

Charges were filed against Koeck for failing to stop at the stop sign.

Police estimated damages to the car at $1,200 and damages to the truck were undetermined.

Burning Index Is 'Hazardous'

"THE burning index has reached the hazardous point," Paul R. Drury, assistant district forester of Monroe County announced yesterday.

The continued co-operation of the public, especially during the Fourth of July holiday was urged as a precaution against starting forest fires in the present dry conditions.

Drury said "dry conditions in the area mean loss by fire is a main consideration."

In consideration of the holiday, Drury pointed out the importance of observing caution in the use of fireplaces in wooded areas and warned against taking chances.

With the sections of tinder dry woodland, loss by fire could be heavy and in addition, endanger lives.

How to help keep freedom ringing from every mountainside

High up on a mountainside in South Dakota, there's a famous tribute to four American patriots who did much to mold the shape of freedom.

But even if there were no Mt. Rushmore, we'd remember men like Washington, Jefferson, Roosevelt, and Lincoln. For the landscape of freedom is shaped by what they did, not by the mountainside that pays tribute.

Even today, freedom is shaped by the work of individuals—men and women, like you. Of course, only a few Americans will ever have their faces up on a mountain. But millions of Americans are playing a real part in the defense of freedom today simply by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

When you invest in U.S. Savings Bonds, you put some money to work for your country right now. At the same time you're putting it to work for your own future.

Aren't those good reasons to buy one soon?

Chimney Fire Extinguished

STROUDSBURG firemen were summoned to the home of Hal H. Harris, 803 Main St., Stroudsburg, yesterday at 11:55 a.m. to extinguish a chimney fire.

Fire Chief Nelson Lightner said the fire was apparently caused by an oil burner overloaded with fuel.

The power to the burner was cut and the excess fuel was allowed to burn. Firemen allowed the chimney to burn until the oil had been consumed and then extinguished the blaze.

Woman Hurt In Accident In Polk Twp.

MRS. MARIAN H. Coe, 35, of 61 Coe Rd., Wolcott, Conn., was bruised on her right arm yesterday at 5:45 p.m. when the car in which she was a passenger was struck in the rear by the car of Sterling Zacharias, Kunkletown RD 1.

The accident occurred in Polk Township, 12 miles east of Leighton.

Mrs. Coe and her husband, Albert R., were driving west on Route 209 when they observed a car parked at the side of the road with steam pouring out of it. Coe stopped to give assistance.

Zacharias told Leighton State Police he was unable to see the Coe vehicle because of the steam and slammed into the rear of the Coe car, which hit a utility pole.

Police said damages to the Coe's 1955 station wagon were estimated at $150. Damages to Zacharias' 1948 sedan were estimated at $200.

Modern Postal Facilities Slated For Water Gap

BECAUSE of the efforts of local officials, local interest, Congressman Francis E. Walter, and because of the inadequacy of former facilities, Delaware Water Gap is slated for a new Post Office.

The development of the push for a new facility can be seen by paging through a series of letters.

These were handed back and forth from Rep. Walter, from Steve Matos, secretary of the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce, and the Philadelphia Regional Office of the Post Office Department, over a period of three years.

The regional office began to conduct a space requirement survey for Delaware Water Gap in 1961, after Walter, on behalf of Matos, requested it.

A letter dated December 12, 1960, from the Regional Operations Director of the Philadelphia office of the Post Office Department and sent to Walter in Washington, says, in part, "The lease on the postal quarters at Delaware Water Gap does not expire until . . . 1962."

"Ordinarily," the letter continues, "we would not begin to consider new quarters for the office until 18 months prior to the lease expiration. However, because of your interest, a space requirements survey will be undertaken immediately after the coming holiday season."

Pushed Rapidly

With Walter behind the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce, the drive for the new facilities was pushed along rapidly.

A letter was sent to the Post Office Department in Washington expressing the need for new facilities. The department wrote back to the regional office demanding more justification. The regional office conducted a survey of postal needs that would include a projected 10-year period in the future.

This report was compiled and sent to Washington, the Post Office Department gave the nod, and Delaware Water Gap was to receive the new building.

Walter had written the regional office many letters expressing his interest in a modern post office for the Gap. In a letter to Walter dated January 25, 1961, the regional operations director said, in part, "We will be glad to entertain any representations you may desire to make because of your understanding of the postal needs of this area."

After the post office department had decided to evaluate the ground for the new facility, the regional real estate officer in Philadelphia wrote to Matos about the plans for such an evaluation.

Matos had written to the office expressing the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce's interest in obtaining a modern office.

The letter from the real estate officer said that ground for the new office would be evaluated in three ways, first, from the fair real estate value angle.

The second way saw the ground from the aspect of operational suitability—a central location was necessary.

In Use Nearly 30 Years

Thirdly, the new office had to suit the engineering needs of a new post office building. The area must not be susceptible to floods or other natural hazards.

The old post office had been in use for nearly 30 years, and while the town had grown from a third class postal area in 1936 to a first class operation in 1962, the facilities have remained the same.

Through the efforts of Matos and the Chamber of Commerce, the efforts of Walter and his position, and the helpfulness of the Post Office Department, Delaware Water Gap is soon to be graced with a fine new structure fitting its needs and services for years to come.

Monroe Racing Inc. Acquires 400 Acres

THE initial purchase of property for a proposed automobile race-track in Monroe County was effected yesterday afternoon, when Racing, Inc., acquired the deed to 400 acres of land in Tunkhannock Township.

The purchase represents about one-third of the area to be acquired by the corporation for the proposed sports facility. Two other tracts adjoining the first are under a contract of sale to Racing Inc., and execution of the contracts is expected in the near future. The total of the three tracts will be 1025 acres.

The purchase of the initial tract was made from Russell L. Mervine, Stroudsburg attorney, in his office yesterday. Racing, Inc., was represented by its president, David Montgomery, Jr., its attorney, Lee Koehler, and several of the directors.

Following the transaction, Montgomery said: "After five years of careful investigation, study, planning and numerous conferences with leaders of the automobile racing industry and management of racing centers, firmly believe that the time is ripe for the development of a great international sports and stock car racing center in the Poconos."

New Trial Granted In '41 Robbery

SCRANTON — William Vasilick, convicted and sentenced to 23 years in federal prison for the Aug. 5, 1941 bank robbery in Stroudsburg, has been granted a new trial. He has been in prison for almost 20 years.

He was found guilty of participating in the $76,000 daylight hold-up of Louis Heiney and Ralph Rheinfels, both employed by the Stroudsburg First National Bank at the time of the robbery.

The two bank employees were walking south on Seventh St. on their way to the Stroudsburg Post Office. They were carrying a canvas bag with worn one dollar bills that were to be returned to the U.S. Mint to be destroyed and new certificates issued.

As they walked down the street they were confronted by one man with a machine gun. After taking the money he fled and was joined by two other men. The three men made their escape via the old Erie Railroad Bridge, in Minisink Hills, which crossed the Delaware River.

The three men were helped across the bridge by workmen who were in the process of dismantling the bridge. They made good their escape but were arrested several months later.

The new trial may mean freedom for the 61-year-old defendant who has been granted the trial by Federal Judge Michael H. Sheridan in Federal Court, Scranton, on the grounds that Vasilick's attorney, Joseph J. Walsh, was not granted sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Show Your Colors!

As our great editorial, which appears below, today we are using a striking answer to an accusation of "too much flag-waving."

It is a reply to Dr. S. L. DeLove on the Know Your History Hour to a listener who wrote as follows: "Your programs are wonderful—especially the no commercials—but you are waving the flag too much."

Th words of the reply are a striking reminder to Americans of how little they indicate their respect and love for all of the things they purport to cherish as far as our great nation is concerned. The lackadaisical attitude of the average American is shocking when it is looked upon in the cold spotlight of the ideas and ideals he supposedly holds as his credo.

Independence Day, the Fourth of July, is the birthday of all of the precepts we hold as inalienable rights; it is an annual reminder of the faith and courage of a few handfuls of patriots who stood their ground in 1776, and declared their freedom from tyranny; it should be a constant reminder that we must hold to the same principles today if we are to preserve the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness which the founding fathers guaranteed back then.

On Flag Day last month, we noted a slight increase in the number of American flags displayed before homes and business places, but, considering the total population of the Stroudsburgs, the percentage was almost infinitesimal.

Tomorrow, we will mark the real anniversary of our nation and its principles. Read the guest editorial below and see if you can leave the front of your home devoid of the colors tomorrow and still feel unashamed.

If you can, then you are sadly lacking in what it takes to be an American!

Opinions Of Other Editors

Can We Wave The Flag Too Much?

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity? It is possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much?

The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. I believe that we are not waving our flag enough, not nearly enough.

It seems to me that we are developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about waving the stars and stripes. Walk up and down the streets on July 4th and count the flags. It is our nation's birthday, a sacred day in world history, the most important day of America. Why isn't the flag flying on every rooftop and from every home and building? This complacent attitude is strong evidence of cancerous patriotic decay. The flag is a symbol of our national unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best that is in us... for loyalty, character, and faith in democracy.

Isn't our flag a synonym of the United States of America? Does it not represent man's greatest, noblest, most sublime dream? It is not the zenith of achievement, the goal to which generations have aspired?

Ladies and gentlemen, I believe it is time for us... for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century American... to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverend admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded.

Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? Isn't the flag Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Franklin, Washington, Nathan Hale, Gettysburg and Valley Forge, Paul Revere, Jackson and other great men and women who have given us our heritage. When you look at the flag can't you see the Alamo, Corrigedor, Pearl Harbor, The Monitor, The Merrimac, Wake Island, and Korea? Lest we forget, isn't the flag Flanders Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima, Normandy, Babe Ruth and Davy Crockett? The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag.

It is a symbol of this blessed nation, a giant in industry, education and commerce. Millions of fertile square miles, wheatlands, coal mines, steel plants. Our great republic, the chosen infant destined to be man's last and remaining hope for suffering humanity, a shining beacon of light, noble and glorious, the haven for the oppressed and persecuted and truly God's gift to mankind.

That is what the flag means to me. Can we wave it too much? I don't think so.

The People Of The Book

Were those who objected to an undenominational prayer in tax-supported schools, worshipping Jews, they would know a beautiful prayer, entitled "Aleinu" which begins with this stanza:

"It is for us to praise the Lord of all,
To acclaim the greatness of the God of creation,
Who has not made us as worldly nations,
Nor set us up as earthly peoples,
Nor making our portion as theirs,
Nor our destiny as that of their multitudes.
For we bow in worship before the supreme King of kings,
The Holy One, blessed be He."

Truly those who live in ignorance of their past, dwell in darkness. Anson Phelps Stokes in his magnificent study, "Church and State in the United States," speaks of the early days of this country:

"The citizens of the emerging United States were virtually all Christian men who differed much in matters of Church membership and loyalty, and in theological belief, and even, especially in the middle colonies, in national background, but they were one in their realization that God was their Father and that they were his children, and that there was in all of them a spark of the divine life which made them capable of great things if they would live worthy of their birthright."

All the leading men of the Revolution were religious men and most were church affiliated. Benjamin Franklin, for instance, said:

"I never was without some religious principles." He laid down his own concepts:

"That there is one God, who made all things.

That He governs the world by his providence.

That He ought to be worshipped by adoration, prayer, and thanksgiving.

But that the most acceptable service of God is doing good to man.

That the soul is immortal.

And that God will certainly reward virtue and punish vice, either here or hereafter."

In his "Rights of Man," Thomas Paine wrote:

"Man worships not himself, but his Maker; and the liberty of conscience which he claims is not for the service of himself, but of his God."

One can go through American history, quoting leader after leader, but what I prefer to quote is one of the greatest religious statements of any period, namely, Abraham Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation of 1863:

"Whereas it is the duty of nations as well as of men to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon, and to recognize the sublime truth, announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that those nations only are blessed whose God is the Lord; . . .

. . . We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven; we have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity; we have grown in numbers, wealth, and power as no other nation has ever grown. But we have forgotten God, we have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us."

The people of the United States have throughout their history devoted themselves to prayer, in the home, in the school, at the opening of public meetings, at the opening of each session of the Supreme Court and at each day of Congress.

Why is prayer abolished in 1962? Why is God denied in 1962? Why is agnosticism and atheism encouraged in 1962?

It is essential that the Supreme Court be heeded or our way of government must be altered. Must we then choose between God and Caesar? No man need face such a dilemma. No child needs to be told that he may no longer pray to God whose creative powers still prevail in a world that man has muddled. There can be no law against praying in silence. Let every child be given a card by his parents or clergyman and when the school day opens, let him pray in silence and let him add to his prayer the words, "And may God bless the United States Supreme Court with sanity."

The Pennsylvania Story

Governors' Conference

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Harrisburg — The Pied Piper of Hamelin of ancient German lore had nothing on his more contemporary sports who induced the 54th Annual Conference of Governors to meet in Pennsylvania this year!

This is the "story behind the story" of how governors from throughout the United States from last Friday through tomorrow happen to be holding their annual meeting at nearby Hershey — (involving a brood of some 1000 "attaches" to these chief executives from throughout the Nation, as well as the governors themselves).

The distinction of this Conference being held in Pennsylvania is obvious — but it is perhaps somewhat more of a distinction when it is realized that this is the second time the governors have met here, the first being in 1944 during the tenure of Governor Edward Martin.

In the interim since 1944 however the Governors' Conference grew and grew in size — the general feeling being in more recent years that it was just too big an affair for the Keystone State to handle.

But — in 1959 James E. Bobb, Vice-president of the Hershey Estates happened to be staying at Many Glacier Lodge in Montana's Glacier National Park when the Governors' Conference then meeting in Puerto Rico announced that the 1960 Conference would be held at the Lodge in which Bobb was staying.

Looking over the facilities there, he returned to Pennsylvania convinced that, egad, Pennsylvania could handle such an affair after all — if the governors could be sold.

A conference was brewed up between Bobb, Walter Giesey, Secretary to Governor Lawrence, and Harold Swenson, then Director of the Department of Commerce's Bureau of Vacation and Travel Development (subsequently promoted to Commerce Deputy Secretary).

Mr. Lawrence was approached and heartily endorsed the idea. In 1960 the Conference was invited to "consider" meeting in Pennsylvania in 1961 or 1962. The Conference decided to meet in Hawaii in 1961 — but it was in 1960 at the Montana Conference that the "modern" Pied Piper blew into being.

At that Conference Hal Swenson and Bob Courmoyer, managing director of the plushy Hershey Hotel (representing Hershey Vice-President Jim Bobb), as part of a "sales blitz" program lined up earlier by the Swenson-Giesey-Bobb combine, descended upon the meeting armed with 6000 chocolate bars for which of course the town of Hershey is famous!

Six thousand Hershey Bars went out to the kids (and mothers) making up the gubernatorial conference entourage, as well as the governors themselves, of course. Wherever these modern Pied Pipers went, the kids were at their heels. Slyly, Pied Pipers Swenson and Courmoyer promised the kids all the chocolate bars they wanted — if they came to Hershey for a Governors' Conference!

The "formal sell" however came in 1961 when the Conference was held in Hawaii. Mr. Lawrence accompanied by Mr. Swenson did the job there, playing up Gettysburg, Independence Hall in Philadelphia and similar historical high spots now on the Conference agenda.

There is however one more somewhat interesting angle:

The formal bid by Governor Lawrence was not made to the Conference — until after a $100,000 appropriation had been cleared by a bipartisan Legislature, which incidentally placed Pennsylvania on the rather distinguished list as the first state ever to have a firm appropriation when formally extending an invitation to the Conference.

Mr. Lawrence apparently was determined not to be caught in the position of Montana Governor Hugo Aronson when his invitation to meet in his state was finally accepted in 1960 (following six unsuccessful invitations).

Of all things — the Montana Legislature refused to appropriate a cent for the Conference!

Net result: Governor Aronson had to scramble about the state raising the $135,000 needed — by personally calling on Montana industries for contributions to meet the fiscal obligations!

Pennsylvania's Governor Lawrence has at least been spared that ignominy!

Washington, July 3 — Billie Sol Estes' legal troubles with the federal government and Congress are continuing to grow like Topsy.

Internal Revenue Service agents have joined the Justice Department and two congressional committees in investigating the tangled financial affairs of the free-spending Texas grain operator.

This unannounced tax probe was ordered by top Treasury Department officials after a spot-check of Estes' federal tax returns showed that he had paid little or no taxes in recent years.

In at least one instance, Estes allegedly reported that he had

The Allen-Scott Report

Internal Revenue Probing Estes' Affairs

suffered a huge financial loss. The federal tax check came to light when Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., and Representative L.H. Fountain, D-N.C., whose Senate and House Investigating Committees are probing the Estes case, asked the White House for permission to look at the Texas' income tax returns.

Aides of the President promised to obtain the necessary approval for the committees to examine the returns, but requested that the information be kept secret because the Internal Revenue Service was conducting a full-scale probe of Estes' financial affairs.

The legislators were told that the IRS investigation includes a search to determine whether Estes sent money to Switzerland, where banks permit depositors to keep funds in "numbered" accounts.

Senator McClellan and Representative Fountain agreed to this White House restriction, saying that they wanted to use the tax returns only to check on new leads their staffs had developed from other sources on Estes' financial dealings.

In exchange for the returns, the two committee chairmen are keeping IRS officials fully informed of their investigative findings as an aid to the government's tax probe.

Missing Witness — House investigators have turned to the Justice Department in their search for Martin Sorkin, former aide to Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture during the Eisenhower Administration.

Representative Fountain asked Attorney General Robert Kennedy to locate Sorkin, now believed to be in Europe, so that his committee can question the former Agriculture Department aide on the Estes case.

Sorkin, a GOP farm adviser, was one of three former Agriculture employees now working for Commercial Solvents Corporation, which had large business deals with Estes.

Sorking left for Europe the day his name was first brought up in the House hearings. Since his departure, committee aides have been unable to ascertain Sorkin's whereabouts or when he plans to return to the U.S. Committee sources report that Sorkin may turn out to be one of the most important witnesses in the Estes investigation.

For The Record — The extensive investigations of Estes are costing the government hundreds of thousands of dollars.

While Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman insists the government has not "lost" a penny at the hands of Billie Sol Estes, Senate investigators have compiled figures showing that the Justice and Agriculture Departments already have spent more than $150,000 probing his operations in Texas and elsewhere.

This figure does not include the additional thousands being spent by the McClellan and Fountain investigating committees in their far-flung probe.

Note: Congressional investigators are forecasting that Undersecretary Charles Murphy will be the next high Agriculture Department official to be eased out because of the Estes case. A former White House aide in the Truman Administration, Murphy approved Estes' appointment to the Department's Cotton Advisory Board at the same time the legality of some of his cotton allotments was being questioned.

Lifting The Lid — President Kennedy is going to be asked to end the State and Defense Departments' practice of censoring statements that military officers present to congressional committees.

The request will be sent to the White House later this month when Senator John Stennis' Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee makes public the final report on its investigation of the muzzling of military officers.

The unanimous recommendation was the first that the senators were able to agree on in writing their report.

Their decision to seek an end to this censorship is the result of admissions by State and Defense Department officials that statements of more than a dozen military officers, including members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were edited before being presented to Congress.

Another recommendation approved by the senators puts the subcommittee on record as favoring the Defense Department's continuance of "cold war" seminars on the dangers of international communism. However, the committee is still split down the middle on whether military or civilian officers should conduct these controversial seminars.

Inside You And Yours

Human Kangaroos

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
Every baby is premature—born nine months too early! So announces an English doctor after studying animals' and people.

Humans resemble kangaroos without pouches. Kangaroo newborns climb right into Mom's warm, comfortable pouch, latch onto her breast and feed all day. Birth merely substitutes the pouch for the womb. He stays until he can hop on his own.

Unlike most newborn animals, Baby can't walk on all fours until he's nine months old.

After 630 days, baby elephants arrive ready to keep up with the herd. Otherwise they'd be trampled to death.

Mother Lion can't wait. Her brood arrives after only 106 days. Otherwise she'd starve; only spray lionesses can spring on prey.

Bigger Bones
To carry Baby 18 months, Mom would need giant pelvic bones. Otherwise Baby's head couldn't pass. But women would walk too clumsily to run away from danger and so women have small pelvic bones and babies arrive nine months early.

Until Junior can creep and crawl, he's technically a fetus—an unborn child! And, like a fetus, he still needs the womb's warm security, close contact and natural food.

Only missile-age man has had the IQ to mess up Nature. Through industry and progress, he can substitute artificial food—from cows. And the automobile allows Mom to leave her baby for hours.

Better Way
Kangaroos fare better. So do primitive tribes where every baby is nursed. No cow's milk triggers asthma and allergy here.

And no Kangaroo mother competes in the business world, leaving a lonely, deserted fetus to build a firm foundation for future mental illness.

His Right

Dear Abby: My husband is letting his beard grow because our town is going to celebrate its centennial. Just because this town is 100 years old doesn't mean HE has to look it. It's disgusting. It is like living with an Airdale. And it's not at all attractive. There are patches where no hair grows and parts of his beard are red! Do you think it is fair to the wives when these men grow beards to show civic spirit? I'm ready to lock him out.

Dear Abby: I am only 14 but after reading the letter from HAD MY FILL, the woman who regretted having to take care of her 80-year-old father-in-law, I had to speak my piece. I wish I were old enough to take him into my home and care for him myself. He doesn't have much longer to live so why not make his last years happy ones?

Dear Soft: It's not possible for a 14-year-old to "adopt" an 80-year-old, but I congratulate you on your kindness of heart. Don't anyone tell ME our teenagers are all a selfish, thoughtless lot.

Dear Abby: I am being married next month and want to ask your advice on a problem that has come up. I am marrying a farmer. We are both 23. We had planned to live with his parents, who have a very nice, modern, 10-room home on their farm. It's about 12 miles from the city. His people are the neicest in the world and I don't see why we couldn't get along fine living with them, but all my friends tell me it would be a big mistake. They say NO two families can share one house and that I would hate it after awhile and be trapped. Should I listen to my friends? I am so upset I don't know which way to turn.

Dear Upset: Your friends are mistaken. Many young couples live with their parents and get along fine. Don't let their sour outlooks curdle your plans. Move in. If it doesn't work out, you can move out.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

She has been the recipient of a Tiffany Foundation Fellowship and of a first prize in sculpture from the Indiana State Art Association. Last year she did a marble head of the Greek goddess, Hera, for the Alpha Chi national headquarters in Indianapolis.

MR. and Mrs. K. Jester are being welcomed back to their summer home on Glenwood Ave., after their usual winter in St. Louis, Mo.

The Presbyterian women were delighted with the success of their Strawberry Festival and rummage sale held late in June. With almost entirely local folk attending, both features did well. H. J. LaBar was the auctioneer. The church women with Mrs. Henry Kulp, Mrs. Donald Nuse and Mrs. H. J. LaBar on the committee, served at the festival.

Walter said his committee will not turn for advice to advocates of one or another immigrant policy, but will listen to experts in demography, experts on population and economics and experts on natural resources. It will be the first such analytic study since the 1940's, Walter told the House.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For a while the stories were popping off like firecrackers with odd twists and The Twist and pictures of pretty brides lined up, waiting their turn, like illustrations for a bride's magazine.

The holiday itself is likely to be deadly dull for social news, since it's difficult to make a social occasion out of passing motorists gathering at the scene of still another accident, which is about all the news we get over holidays.

At least the paper won't be filled with children burned, blinded, or blown up with their own fireworks as it was in "the good old days." The older I grow, the more grateful I am for the ban on fireworks. Although I still cherish the guilty conviction that we of the pre-ban generation had a lot more fun and didn't get any deadlier than today's children do in traffic accidents.

For one thing, the Fourth of July was so busy that nobody wanted to go anywhere, from the first "torpedoes" at dawn, through all the red devils on the trolley tracks, the snakes on the back porch, to the sparklers at the first fading light through all the sky-rockets, pinwheels, flower pots, and Roman candles of the night.

And for another thing, we had a healthy respect for fireworks and dreaded them almost as much as we enjoyed them—or maybe we enjoyed them because we feared ourselves half to death in the process.

Certainly, we ended up the day spiritually and emotionally spent as well as slightly singed around the edges where something had sat on a still smoldering punk or stepped on a still warm sparkler wire.

Well, we've eliminated both the fearful pleasure and pleasurable fear, but I'd scarcely call the Fourth of July safe and sane; Not from my disadvantage point of sitting and waiting for the report of traffic accidents to roll in.

And somehow sitting spitting watermelon seeds at some remote picnic spot doesn't seem to quite make up for the excitement we once knew.

Young Children Need Old Pony

If you're about to buy a "kid pony," forget the notion that a young child needs a young horse to ride.

An old horse — sound and gentle — will be just as much fun to a child who has never owned one — and a lot safer.

That's the advice you'll get from most knowledgeable horseman, says Bob Gray, editor of The Texas Horseman Magazine.

What cut of beef to use for chuck, top round and shoulder arm are all recommended.

Maier-Patti Marriage Announced

Miss Lucy Theresa Patti and Charles Maier were married at 10:30 a. m. on Saturday in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Wunder officiated with members of the immediate family present for the ceremony.

Local Girl Solos Twist For Chubby

For a musician to be asked to play a cello solo for Pablo Casals would be roughly the teenage equivalent of being asked to do the twist — solo — for Chubby Checkers, who started the craze at the Peppermint Lounge.

This pinnacle of fame was reached by a local 17-year-old this weekend when Janet Woolever gave a command performance for Chubby at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City.

Janet with Mrs. Charles Lupin, and Rayma and Grace Lupin had gone to the Steel Pier on Saturday where Chubby Checkers was packing them in the grand ballroom. The local party had reserved seats for the show.

When the ushers selected eight young people to present a demonstration of the Twist on stage, Janet was one of those selected. That was glory enough: to dance before a capacity audience — and televised at that. But as she was returning to her seat, Janet was recalled to the stage by Chubby himself for a command solo and received his personal congratulations and his handshake.

Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Woolever, 189 Myers St., was still so excited yesterday that she had trouble recalling just where she did live. Incidentally, she says she learned the Twist at the dances at the Armory.

Couples Seek Licenses To Wed

Three couples applied for marriage licenses from Henry N. Fenner, clerk of court, at the courthouse over the weekend.

New Pastor Welcomed At Tannersville ULCW Session

Tannersville—Rev. Charles Adams, a recent graduate of the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia was welcomed as new pastor at the meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church last week. He was introduced by the president, Betty Rowe.

The society made plans to serve a congregational dinner on Aug. 14 as an official welcome for the new pastor and his bride.

He will be installed on July 29 at 4:30 p. m. Dean Neubauer will officiate and the speaker will be Rev. William M. Horn, pastor of the new minister's home church in Philadelphia.

"Christ Called" was the theme of the program, led by Carolyn Learn. Assisting with the presentation were Nita Morris and Ruth Learn. The program stressed that in God's sight there are no preferred jobs and that all can serve him at home, store, factory or place of employment. A discussion of baffling situations for Christians in business dealings was held.

Shirley Curtis, Mary Jean Learn and Mary Werkheiser participated in the thank offering program.

Evelyn Dodd, education chairman announced plans for ULCW Week at Muhlenberg College Allentown from July 10 through July 13 with several members volunteering to attend.

New year books have been started by Mrs. Dodd and her committee. Mary Jean Learn announced that 25 members and the pastor were present for the June meeting.

Goth's Pocono Pete Peat Scores Non-Couture Hit

What the Gothe signature means on couture fashions the Pocono Pete signature means to his peat moss, David Gothe revealed yesterday in a special to The Daily Record from New York City.

Goth, a member of the New York Couture Group whose inaugural gowns for First Ladies now repose in the Smithsonian Institute, has a home on Little Pond Farm, Franklin Hill. On the farm is a bog or peat moss which Gothe at first marketed himself, proudly displaying the Pocono Pete peat moss in his plush New York dress salon.

Later he let out the contract to local men. Recently the contract changed hands with John Detrick, also a resident of Smithfield Township, taking up the contract.

Three days later, Gothe revealed, Detrick had been offered $20,000 for the contract by a mid-western firm who termed the deposit of humous in the bog the deepest and richest in Pennsylvania.

Family Enthusiasm For Baked Goods Repays Cook For "Hotting Up" Oven

By LINDA PIPHER
Daily Record Home Economist
We all tend to be on the lazy side during the summer months, or perhaps it would be kinder to us females if I said we search for recipes that will help us escape from the kitchen early and keep us from smothering in oven heat.

But we still have families to feed, and if there's children in your family, they probably want an occasional cake or pie. Then there's the picnic get together when you've volunteered the dessert.

Here's the perfect cake recipe for the summer, thought it's so good I've made it for covered dish suppers in the winter. People are amazed when I tell them it's from a mix. It has a sponge cake texture and is delicious iced with chocolate butter frosting or a broiled coconut topping.

The recipe comes from Stella Schoonover in Bushkill and the name of the cake doesn't carry any implications! It's just that the ingredients are so unusual it's hard to believe they would combine to make a cake, let alone a good one.

Stella's Crazy Cake
1 package yellow cake mix
¾ cup salad oil
¾ cup water
1 package lemon gelatin
4 eggs

Combine the cake mix, lemon gelatin and salad oil. Mix thoroughly. Add the eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Add the water, and mix as long as directions on the package instruct. Pour into a 10" by 14" greased cake pan and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. (This can also be baked in layer pans or angel food cake pan).

My favorite quick pie is made with a graham cracker crust:

Quick And Easy Cheesecake
1 large (7 oz.) package cream cheese
2 cups milk
1 package lemon instant pudding
Whiz together in blender and pour into crust. If you don't have a blender, mix together when cream cheese is very soft. (Be sure to use instant pudding; regular packaged pudding thickens only with direct heat). Refrigerate at least one hour.

Graham Cracker Crust:
1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
1-3rd cup melted butter.

Combine all ingredients and press into pie pan with back of spoon. Bake for 8 minutes in 350 degree oven.

For a quick fruit cobbler, try this:

Orange Cherry Cobbler
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) cherry pie filling mix
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup broken pecans
¼ cup water
½ package (1 packet) orange muffin mix.

Combine first four ingredients in 12 x 6 x 1½" baking dish; heat 15 minutes in hot oven (400). Meanwhile prepare batter from muffin mix according to package directions; stir in nuts. Spoon in mounds or spread over hot cherry filling. Bake in hot oven (400) 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm. Pass pitcher of cream. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Many Working Mothers Combine Two Jobs Well

By Roberta Fleming Roesch
"Instead of telling your readers that they can be successful as mothers and still hold a job, why don't you be honest enough to tell them truthfully that they're cheating themselves out of motherhood when they take a job outside of their homes!" challenges a letter in today's mail.

"Personally, I like to read the letters and comments you publish on this subject from time to time," the writer of the letter goes on to say. "But I know from experience that a mother working outside of her home can't possibly do two good jobs at one time. Something has to go. Usually it's the house and the kids!"

Isn't so much, "Will we be neglecting our children and cheating ourselves?" as it is, "What can we do to manage both jobs?"

You can't turn back the clock nor change statistics. And today statistics show that the increase in the number of married women holding jobs has been so great that during the past ten years almost half of the growth of the total labor force is attributed to these women.

Consequently, with this trend in front of us, those of us who are working because we want to or

She's Angry And Tense When She Comes Home From Work

Tired And Tense
"This is the case because, by the time a mother gets home at night, she's tired and has no desire to cook. She's also tense, cranky and in poor shape to face the rush-rush that's ahead. Most nights she argues with her husband, too, and visibly shows she can't wait to get the kids fed and in bed so she can get on with the rest of her work."

"All in all, the whole mess develops into a sorry state of affairs. And the reason I know this is true is because I'm a working mother."

Admittedly this story, as this working mother tells it, is a sorry state of affairs. And, obviously, down underneath this particular working mother is terribly sorry for herself. But who but she herself ever told her things had to be this way!

Working Mothers
Right now, the Department of Labor reports, 12 million American women combine marriage and a job. And more than one-third of them have children from six to 17, too.

Not all of us in this group constantly feel sorry for ourselves and live in a continuous state of tension, either. And not many of us are neglecting our kids to the point that they're on a one-way street to crime and delinquency!

Actually, those of us who have found the way to do two things are beginning to think these arguments are a little passe, too. And most of us in this year of 1962 are beginning to feel that the up-to-the-minute approach to the subject, "To work or not to work",

Girls Mix Data And Dates

By Vivian Brown
Time was when girls were content to bat their eyelashes at boys to make their high school days tolerable. They figured that so long as they had to go to school, they might as well make it pay off in dates.

But that attitude has changed since the atom was split. Girls now are not just content with reading science fiction.

Ten of the 40 finalists in the 21st Science Talent Search (Westinghouse) are girls, a pretty good ratio in any science competition.

Typical of the 1962 science inspired girl is Sheila Lynne Grinnell, 16, of New York City, who developed a system for "adding and subtracting" polygons, many-sided geometric figures, a method known as vector analysis.

Sheila wants a career in medical research and that motivated her science interest from an early age. "Neither parent prodded me into it," Sheila volunteers. "They just encouraged me to find my way." She hopes to study biological and physical sciences at Radcliffe College.

"I was one of five high school juniors who went over, and we lived at a youth hostel in London. Besides talking math with British boys, science proved to be a medium for mutual understanding. It emphasized being a human being."

Sheila feels she is well advanced toward her goal, considering her age. "I am very happy to have gotten this far," she says, "and I can't wait to go on."

She has other talents. She is managing editor of the citywide newspaper for French-American

Domesticity Needs More Prestige

By Jean Sprain Wilson
Washington (AP) — If women did not have a low grade opinion of their own value around the house, at least one Very Important Working Mother would have a lot less work to do.

She is Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and director of the Women's Bureau. As such she has recently been busy urging Congress to eliminate inequities in wages, job and advancement opportunities among some 25 million women in the nation's working force.

But she also wrinkles her brow about two other problems: the working mother's need for dependable help at home, and the need for more employment opportunities for the mature woman without previous business training or experience.

These two dilemmas could solve each other, and industry could benefit at the same time, points out Mrs. Peterson who has four young Petersons at home. "But everybody has to have a little more respect for domesticity. We need to make it a bit more of a profession."

Prestige Needed
"Who has already had success and experience in raising children and taking care of a home? Why, older women of course," the tall, handsome blonde sometimes answers her own questions.

If there was more prestige and more money for this kind of work, older women would be unashamed to take over chores left behind by the mother on the job, she says.

"But we women are to blame. We downgrade our work so. We think it's so worthless that we're not willing to pay for it when somebody else must do it."

Of course, working women must have salaries large enough to enable them to pay for adequate help around the house. And Uncle Sam must be sympathetic enough to allow women to deduct this from their incomes as a legitimate expense.

These are goals for the recently appointed President's Commission on the Status of Women, with which Mrs. Peterson works very closely.

Talent Unleashed
When these are met, industry itself will benefit, she says, because more women with special skills and education will be able to fill serious shortages in certain areas.

"I know what it is to run a household and do demanding work at the same time," says the lady with the warm blue eyes. When her children were all at school age, Mrs. Peterson went back to teaching.

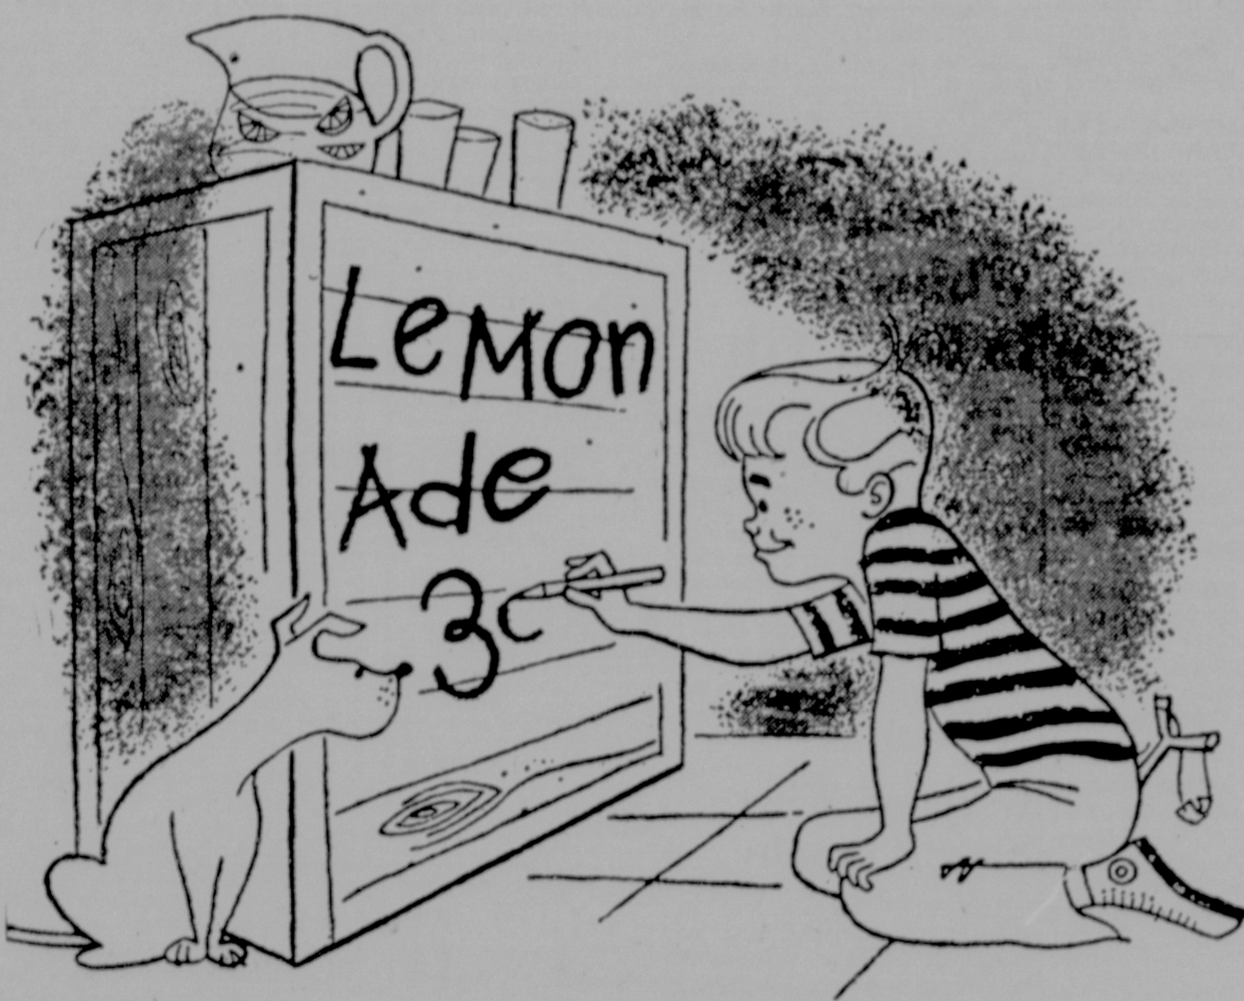

Although Mrs. Peterson does not advise employment for all mothers by any means, she's frankly happy with her own busy role.

On the Go
Her husband Oliver (legal adviser in the State Department) and sons Lars 15, Iver 19, Eric 22, and daughter Karen 23, are proud of her.

"They say their lives are much more interesting because I work. They brag that Mama takes them to Congress."

Still packing and unpacking that suitcase Mrs. Peterson keeps under the leather sofa in her attractive walnut furnished office is a part of the price she pays, though. As assistant secretary of labor she must make frequent trips around the country.

But, she admits, she is luckier than most working mothers. She has always had wonderful domestic help at home.

Davis Team Choices Omit Star Reed Gets Cup Snub

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Kelleher, the new U.S. Davis Cup tennis captain, picked a four-man team Monday for the approaching match with Canada, and there was one glaring omission—Whitney Reed, the nation's No. 1 player.

Kelleher picked his squad at Wimbledon and wired it to the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association headquarters in New York for release. He declined to elaborate on the snub of Reed, the unorthodox, party-loving ex-Marine from Alameda, Calif.

Selected to face the Canadians were Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.

McKinley, (21), Froehling, (20), and Ralston, (30), are collegians. Douglas, 25, is a former Stanford quarterback who has been training intensively all year for the Cup campaign.

McKinley and Froehling loom as the singles players against Canada with McKinley and Ralston teaming in doubles. The matches will be held at the Cleveland Skating Club—on clay surface—July 13-15.

If the American Davis Cup squad is weak this year, as certainly indicated by its poor showing at Wimbledon, then Canada is weaker. Canada's best players, Lorne Main and Bob Bedard, are no longer active. The Canadians' squad includes Don Fontana and Francois Goubout, now playing in Europe, and newcomers Keith Carpenter and Harry Fauquier.

The Americans, if successful against Canada, face Mexico in the mile-high atmosphere of Mexico City, Aug. 4-6. The Mexicans, with Rafael Osuna in the line-up, may be favored.

Of the U.S. Cup quartet, only Froehling, a skyscraper youngster who hasn't quit growing, managed to get as far as the round of 16 at Wimbledon, but he was stopped short of the quarter-finals by Manuel Santana of Spain.

It was the worst showing in the history of the tournament by an American team.

McKinley, complaining of a sore arm, lost in the second round to an obscure Briton, Mike Hann. Douglas dropped his opening match to Roy Emerson of Australia. Ralston bowed to Mike Mulligan of Australia.

Reed has had a disappointing campaign since he was placed at the top of the U.S. men's rankings. He hasn't won a tournament. He has lost to numerous second-rate players. At Wimbledon, he was shelved off the court by defending champion Rod Laver in less than an hour.

2 Big Nights Are Planned At Nazareth

NAZARETH Speedway's biggest two nights of racing and special events in 1962 will be held Tuesday night, 8:30 p.m., and Wednesday night, 7:30 p.m., when the program will include stock car races, fireworks and sky-diving in an ex-paratrooper.

Producer Jerry Fried will have a triple-header on Tuesday night — with the program including modified-sportsman stock cars, plus limited sportsman stock cars, and a vast fireworks display. This show will start at 8:30 p.m.

On Wednesday night, 7:30 p.m., there will be four big attractions — modified-sportsman stock cars, limited sportsman stock cars, fireworks, plus a sky-diving exhibition by Wayne Pritchett, ex-paratrooper, who will land in the center of the race track infield.

The stock car races, with Bobby Malzahn, Tampa, Fla., as the biggest point winner to date in the lineup, will give the fast-running modified-sportsman a chance to show their best performance records over the two nights.

While Malzahn has not won a feature event in 1962, he has been a consistent finisher in Nazareth and this fine driving has kept him ahead of the stiff challenges that have been pouring into Nazareth.

Biggest feature event winner to date — Jack McLaughlin — is the odds on favorite to make things hottest for Malzahn. However, the challenges of Al Tashandy, Bud Olson, George Sleight, Frank Schneider, Ken Wismer and others are not to be readily overlooked.

Nazareth expects many new name drivers on deck for its Tuesday and Wednesday night shows.

Patterson Says Must Feel 'Viciousness' For Liston

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—"I think that my biggest job is building up a thinking of viciousness about Sonny Liston before I fight him," heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson said Monday.

Patterson, natty in an olive green suit, and the 218-pound Liston, bulging a garment of the same color, met at a formal contract signing for their title match Sept. 25 in Comiskey Park.

Before they got together, however, Liston grunted and groaned in trying to lift 110-pound Johnny Coulon, ancient former bantamweight champion, whose "try to lift me," act amazed vaudeville circuits 45 years ago.

"I will win the championship by an early knockout," the mustachioed Liston predicted.

Patterson was extremely frank in answering newsmen's questions.

"I saw Liston on television knock out Cleveland Williams and Mike de John and I want to remember his tremendous punching power in these fights," Patterson said.

"But I do not want to remember Liston's fight with Eddie Machen which went the full distance. Some said that Liston did not look good in it and all I want to remember is how good he did look in his other victories. Mentally I want to face this man not knowing of mistakes he has made in the ring but instead his terrific punching ability."

"I would like something to happen to build up within myself a viciousness for him," Patterson continued. "How this feeling will come I'm not sure. It may be something he will say to fight writers that I will read about. This is what happened in my second match with Ingemar Johansson when I kayaked him."

"The early odds on the fight favoring Liston 7 to 5 helps me because I like the feeling of being an underdog."

cent of the live gate and 55 per cent of ancillary rights. Liston gets either a flat 12 per cent, or a $200,000 guarantee of the live gate or theater television.

The Illinois Athletic Commission made Liston swear that he has no manager. Liston declared that George Katz is his manager on record, but Katz has nothing to do with this fight. In return, Katz will receive 10 per cent of Liston's cut and eventually will relinquish all tie-up with Liston as of Sept. 24, 1963.

Liston says he is his own manager, although a Philadelphia concessionaire, Jack Milon, will be Liston's adviser.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Rod Laver, the defending champion, defeated Spanish champion Manuel Santana Monday and turned the semifinals of the men's singles at the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships into an all-Australian affair.

It was the first time one country had dominated the semifinals since well before World War I. Two Aussies brothers—Neale and John Fraser—also made the pay-off stages. The last time two brothers had got so far was in 1900 when Reg and Laurie Doherty of Britain did it.

Quarter-finals results:
Laver Defeated Santana 14-16, 9-7, 6-2, 6-2.
Neale Fraser, Australia, defeated Rafael Osuna of Mexico, who is studying at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 4-6, 6-2.
John Fraser, Australia, defeated Ken Fletcher, Australia, 1-6, 7-9, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.
Martin Mulligan, Australia, defeated Bob Hewitt, Australia, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.
John Fraser and Mulligan were unseeded. Laver was the top seed and Fraser the No. 3 seed.
Laver will play Neale Fraser in the semifinals and John Fraser will play Mulligan.

Tuesday three American girls will try their luck in the quarter-finals of the women's singles.

This is the women's line-up: Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., vs. Ann Haydon, fifth seed, from Britain; Rene Schurman, fourth seed from South Africa, vs. Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, seeded eighth, from Chula Vista, Calif.; Lesley Turner, Australia, seventh seed, vs. Maria Buno, Brazil, third seed; Mrs. Vera Sukova, Czechoslovakia, vs. Darlene Hard, second seed, from Long Beach, Calif.

Monroe County Prosperity Seen

Area Raceway To Draw World's Best Races

by Jeff Cox
Daily Record Sports Writer
JUST look around, and you can see the outlines of a future Monroe County that is a center of recreation and commerce in the East.

Look at the new highways, designed to carry the commercial and private traffic of the great cities of the East.

Look at the Tocks Island plan, designed to provide this area with a multi-million dollar recreation area and man-made lake.

Look at Dave Montgomery's plans for Racing, Inc., designed to attract the top racing in the world, and hundreds of thousands of racing buffs annually.

The site of the proposed track, to be the largest automotive racing facility east of the Indianapolis Speedway and north of Daytona Beach, is just south of Blakeslee Corners at Long Pond.

With a track that size, and an internationally known race run there, the profits to be realized from such a venture are enormous.

According to recent tabulations, automotive racing is the second largest spectator sport, bigger than football or baseball.

Attendance at the Memorial Day race at Indianapolis is estimated at 225,000, while races in other parts of the country draw up to 80,000 visitors.

Montgomery, president of Racing, Inc., said that when he visited Daytona Beach for a race, he stayed 30 miles from the track because of the crowded conditions. Here in the Poconos, already a resort area, accommodations are abundant.

The race-track will feature automotive racing for any type of fan, from Go-karts to Grand Prix racing, from stock cars to drag racers.

The combination of a facility the size of the Pocono Mountains International Speedway, the proximity of the Tocks Island area, and the easy accessibility of the Poconos to cities nearby seem an auspicious indication of future prosperity.

Within a hundred mile radius of Indianapolis, and within a hundred mile radius of Daytona, the population nowhere approximates the 36 million persons to be found within the 135 miles of this area.

Colleges are abundant in the East, and many college students travel thousands of miles to Florida each Spring to watch the Sebring sports car events.

Equidistant from New York and Philadelphia, the site is well picked for the best drawing power. It has been reported by the press that in Sebring, during Spring race time, bank deposits increase by almost one and a half million dollars.

Bill Altier, president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, said, "From the point of view of the economy of the area, and particularly the resort area of the Pocono Mountains, the proposed raceway will undoubtedly serve as the greatest single addition to the facilities of the Poconos."

A reflective thought on the great races in the world today will give one an idea of the publicity inherent in such an event: Le Mans, Sebring, Indianapolis, Daytona Beach, and perhaps some day, the Pocono Mountains.

The men who are trying to create this raceway are thinking big. This is no small operation. The track will be a multi-million dollar affair.

For instance, in Watkins Glen, N. Y., the local citizens realized this potential and purchased approximately $200,000 in bonds to finance a new raceway. Today, Watkins Glen is a familiar term in racing circles around the world.

The Pocono Mountains International Raceway will be larger than Watkins Glen. In fact, the designers are trying to build the finest raceway in the world. The plans and design for the track were made final from a series of meetings with experienced drivers, mechanics, track operators, racing officials, enthusiasts, and architects.

The Racing, Inc., company, operating out of an office on Seventh St., Stroudsburg, has issued a stock offering of 600,000 shares. So far, the average stock purchase has been 66 shares, although anyone in Pennsylvania can purchase from one to 600,000 shares. There is no minimum.

Tom Shanley, the local representative of Sherman and Hall, the underwriters for Racing, Inc., reported the figures above. He noted that the price of shares was $3 per share.

The outlines of the future of the Poconos are forming. It is through such operations as Racing, Inc., that they will solidify into the reality of a thriving and world famous Monroe County.
